

A Christian Life Is: A Grace-filled Life

1. What's a good definition of grace? (“Unmerited favor” isn't really a good definition. It describes grace adequately, but only for someone who already knows what grace is. It doesn't really do much for someone who has no concept of grace.)
2. Why isn't it possible for God to offer amnesty?
3. Peter tells us to “always be prepared to give an answer” for our hope. If someone asked you to explain the relationship between grace, mercy, and justification, could you do it?
4. If God extends his grace as a free gift – and Paul specifically says we're not saved by works – what role do works play in our relationship with God?
5. Do you ever feel guilty for not “feeling” saved? How do we know that we can be secure in our salvation and know we're saved?
